Upon investigation the affairs of the "late lamented" Players' League do not appear to be as rosy as the followers of the organization seemed to think. of the players have not been paid up in full for their eason's work, and in one instance, at least, that of Buffalo, the men will probably whistle for their money. If reports are true a like condition of affairs exists in the Chicago club, which was such a severe disappoint ment last season.

While the condition is not so bad in this city, there are several players anxiously awaiting overdue salary. Richardson, Keefe, Shannon, O'Rourke and Whitney. all local favorites, are sad because they have not re ceived any salary since September 1. The club is in arrears to one of these players just $1,150. Counting from September 1 to the time that their contracts ex-

Captain Ewing received the remainder of his son son's salary only a few days ago, and when he started for home he also carried Catcher Vaughn's salary out with him. That the players will get their salaries in time is assured, but it is nevertheless a facthat they have not seen the color of Brotherhood gold for a discouragingly long period. Colonel McAlpin is expected home from the West on Monday, when a will be held and the necessary checks made out and forwarded to the players.

The reporter's informant said that the local stock ders had not always been in thorough accord, dementioned the fact that President Van Cott had e time called a meeting of the stockholders at which the presiding officer was the only one present O'Day, John Ewing, Connor and other players have been paid up in full and have no claim against the cinb. One of the players who has not been paid his salary was advised to bring swit against the stockholders. The Brooklyn, Boston, Cleveland and Phila-delphia Players' clubs have pald their men in full. Over $2,500 has been expended on the 7th Regiment

Armory to perfect arrangements for the coming indoo aseball season. The scheme is to be carried out on a much more thorough plan than it was by the 13th ent in Brooklyn last winter. The games will probably begin in about ten days. The 7th's soldierathletes have been experimenting for several weeks nd the only hitch in the arrangements is caused by the

It is the ambition of the regiment to put a fine in the field next season, one able to cope with any our organization. Judged from the players now on the list, this can easily be done. A visit to some of those stores yestermay showed that all the reserved seats had been disposed of, and that advantageous positions could not be purchased for love or money. It was intimated that most of the seats had been gobbled up by speculators, who were demanding exorbitant prices for the tickots. It was said that the regular $2 tickets were being sold for $3 and $4 each, which has the regular $2 tickets were being sold for $3 and $4 each, and that by Thanksgiving Day the speculators would be demanding from $5 to $7 each for them. THE HARVARD-YALE CONTEST AT SPRINGFIELD. There has never been so much interest taken in a game of football in New-England as in the great Harvard-Yale contest which takes place to-morrow at Springfield. The "exodus" to Springfield will begin to-day, and as many as "exodus" to Springfield will begin to-day, and as many as 20 000 people are expected to see the game. The teams will play as already announced, with one exception. Captain Rhodes will probably remain in his old place at left tackle and Crosby at left end rush. Rhodes intended to go to left end rush and let Mills take his place, but Mills has been called home on account of illness in his family and cannot play. Three thousand tickets have been sold at Cambridge and Three thousand tickets have been sold at Cambridge and as many at New-Haven. The betting appears to be even, but reports come from New-Haven that Yale is exceedingly confident of winning. It will probably be the best game ever played between Harvard and Yale and will be any-body's game until time is called. A Princeton expert who has correctly predicted the results of the great champion-ship matches of the Intercollegiste Football Association for the last four or five years repeats his prophecy that Harvard will win by a score of 15 to 10, or in other words, by vard will win by a score of 15 to 10, or in other words, by

The Excelsior Club of Brooklyn will make its annual pilgrimage to Springfield this evening to see the foot pilgrimage to Springfield this evening to see the foot-ball match to-morrow. Thirty-two members of the club will start from the Grand Central Station at 11 p. m. in a special sleeping-car of the New-Haven Com-pany and one of the private cars of the Wagner Palace-Car Company. This inxurious method of visit-ing the Springfield game, started by the Excelsion Club, has become popular and will this year be fol-lowed by the Crescent Football and many other or-ganizations. A solid train of thriteen special drawing-room cars will leave Springfield for New-York im-mediately upon the close of the game. Among the members of the Excelsion Club who will form to-day's party are Harry Beecher, Wyllys Terry, George W. Chauncey, Harry C. Du Val, Edwin Bigelow, and many others of the leading men interested in amateur ath-letics from Brooklyn Heights.

HOBOKEN.-At the meeting of the Common Council esterday the City Clerk. Martin McDermott, denied that he had tampered with contractors' proposals for work, to enable one contractor to secure the plums. Councilman Keily offered a resolution that in the future all bids for work be handed the chairman of the Council at open meeting. The resolution was adopted.

RUTHERFORD.—Word has been received of the death on Wednesday of Dr. J. W. Phelps, for many years a well-known practising physician here. Some time ago Dr. Phelps's health began to decline, and be went to a country place near Torrington, Conn., hi old home, where he died.

went to a country place near Torrington, Conn., his old home, where he died.

PLAINFIELD.—Alexander Gilbert, the Republican nominee for Mayor of Plainfield, will make a strong run for the office. Conservative politicians concede the office to Mr. Gilbert. He has lived in the city over twenty-five years, and he has always been a familiar figure in local affairs. Among other public services which he rendered the city was that compelling the Central Raliroad to abolish its grade crossings and clevate its tracks above all the public thoroughares. Mr. Gilbert has been connected with the Market and Fulton National Bank in New-York for twenty-one years, and is one of the oldest cashiers in point of service in that city.

NEW-BRUNSWICK.—During the last month over a dozen fires have occurred in this neighborhood, nearly all of them being of an incendiary origin, and it is feared an organized gang is at work. John Golding has been arrested at Woodbridge for arson, caught in the act. It is believed that other arrests will soon follow, and in one or two instances certain members of the families of the persons whose places have been burned are suspected of the crime.

OTHER SUBURBAN TOWNS.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY

IRVINGTON .- A freight train was standing on the Central Railroad tracks near here yesterday afternoon, when another freight train going south rounded the curve at full speed. Parker, the engineer, reversed his engine, but could not stop it. C. E. Nolan, the conductor, and E. Clemens, the fireman, jumped from the train, but Parker stuck to his post intil the crash came, and he sprang from the cab in time to save his life. His locomotive, one of the largest on the road, and known as the Mogul, toppled into the Hudson River with the caboose on top of it. Parker was severely burned about top of it. Parker was severely burned about face by the fire in the engine. Five cars were wrecked. Travel was blocked for several hours, at 6 o'clock two wreckers succeeded in clearing track sufficiently to allow trains to pass.

MOUNT VERNON.—There is much consternation among the owners of property in Valentine-st., Tenthave., White Plains Road, and other parts of central Mount Vernon, by the discovery that the sprveys made some years ago, during the Tweedring religit, are from two to six feet out of the way. Recent surveys have been made, which conform to the original map in White Plains, and if these recent surveys are confirmed by the courts many buildings, fences and trees will have to be moved back. It is found that the home of Horsee Loomis, the ex-Commissioner of the Street Cleaning Department of New-York, on the north side of Valentine-st., encroaches two feet on the highway. The new armory of the 11th Separate Company also encoaches two feet upon property not owned by it..., on Tuesday night at a meeting of the Commen Council, Mr. Archer (Rep.) criticised George Appel (Dem.) in a way that the latter bitterly resented. The meeting which lasted until midnight was conspicuous because of unpleasant reflections made upon the presumption of some of the members. George Behrmann, clerk of the board, surprised the members by resigning. It is believed that he did so in order to put himself in training for the town clerkship. W. M. Milligan has been appointed to succeed him.

RICHMOND.-Miss Mary Louise Emmons was placed on trial yesterday in the Richmond County Court of essions on an indictment charging her with grand larceny and robbery in having, as alleged, removed goods, including the entire stock, from the store of Michael Morris, in Stapleton. Miss Emmons lives in Second Place, Brooklyn, and is a sister of Edward Emmons, who is now awaiting trial in the Richmond County Jail on a charge of killing Mrs. Kate Owens. The evidence against Miss Emmons was weak, and she was acquitted.

NEW-BRIGHTON.—Frank and Stagus Krush, brothers, while walking on the track of the Rapid Transit Railroad Company, yesterday, were struck by a train, Stagus was Instantly killed and Frank was seriously

TROUBLES OF BUSINESS MEN.

James W. Gough and John Osborne, jr., composing the firm of Gough & Osborne, manufacturers of umbrellas at No. 332 Broadway, made an assignment yester day to Aaron Ballin, giving seven preferences for borrowed money aggregating $5,983; the largest being to Thomas Eckwort, $1,600; Murray Hill Bank, $1,250; Charles F. Vanderleucken, $1,300. This is the firm in which George H. Lounsbery, the cashler of the Postoffice, who committed suicide last January, was interested. The liabilities are about $17,000 and nominal Grenell, a stranger to the family, who had been an assets $24,000. They expect to realize enough from attendant upon Monroe during his last illness. This their assets to pay in full.

Deputy Sheriff Murphy flas received three attachments, aggregating about $2,500, against Charles H. Nollman, wholesale dealer in butter and eggs, at No. 244 Fulton-st., which were granted by Judge O'Brien, of the Supreme Court. Creditors allege that he has been absent from his place of business for several days. the case of her death to Ellen R. Blaisdell, her niece. that they were not able to find him, and that they were informed that he had transferred his business to his brother Walter, and that he had lost money at the brother Waiter, and that he had lost money at the races. He was a depositor, it is said, in the North River Bank. He succeeded his father in business in December, 1889.

Thomas D. Jones, doing business as J. W. & T. D. Jones, dealers in lumber at No. 80 West-st. Brooklyn, made an assignment yesterday to Austin S. Clarke, giving three preferences to relatives. The house is one of the oldest in the lumber trade in Brooklyn, having been in business for over thirty years.

Y. M. C. A. MEN AT DINNER.

The annual dinner of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations was held last night at Clark's, in Twenty-third-st. Cephas Brainerd, president of the committee, took the chair, and among those present were Robert Harris, ex-Judge Arnoux, General O. O. Howard, Colonel Richard Lathers, James Stokes, O. O. He said that game constables in his vicinity were selected in the interest of peachers.

W. H. Thompson, secretary of the St. Lawrence Anglers' Association, favored a total prohibition of netting in the st. Lawrence Elver.

Howard M. Fuller, of Albany, wanted the use of nets in the Hudson River restricted.

The general sentiment of those present favored the passage of an act creating a new commission for the protection and propagation of fish and game with the powers of the commission well defined, and having headquarters at Albany.

Platt, F. A. Haskell, F. L. Janeway.

Addresses on the progress and general aspects of the work of the committee were delivered by Claus Olandt, jr., Henry E. Brown, C. J. Hicks, J. R. Mott, J. C. White, W. A. Hunton, S. A. Taggart, Robert Weidensall, Luther Gulfek, R. S. Miller, Jr., P. A. Whitney and Richard U.

AMERICAN MANNERS AND MORALS.

Daniel Greenleaf Thompson lectured last night before Daniel Greenleaf Thompson lectured last night before the members of the Nineteenth Century Club in the As-sembly Rooms of the Metropolitan Opera House. His subject was "American Manners and Morals," and he handled it in an interesting as well as plain-spoken man-ner. The American politician seemed to be the especial object of his attack, and his advice to public officials was: "Do not steal," He also advised them to think over in their odd moments the opportunities offered in their re-

Mountchical countries," the lecturer added, "produc industrial countries produce stealing. industrial country the industrial warfare never ceases and is even carried into the social circle." Mr. Thomp son advised educated men to become servants of the State rather than dictators. Here he paid a high tribute to

Walter Howe, who, he said, whether as a citizen or in American manners came in for a considerable share

THE COURTS.

ON WHOM IS THE THEFT TO FALL? the Adams Express Company against the bank named. Crawford was sent to deliver to the company a package of bills which were to be sent to Washington for redemption. When the parcel reached the Treasury Department its seals were intact, but it contained only brown paper. The express company paid back the station of the telegraph company for so much of the $41,000, it is understood, with the stipulation that if one of the bank's employes was found to be guilty of the crime the money would be returned to the company for so much of the $4,000,000 that it is may be necessary to satisfy the claims of the complainant and all other creditors who may come into the case. the crime the money would be returned to the com-A year after the robbery Crawford, who had not been suspected of being guilty, left the bank's employ been suspected of being guilty, left the bank's employ and went to South America. Circumstances tending to prove him to be the thief were discovered, and he was arrested in Spanish Honduras. On his person was found $32,000 of the morey, which was sent back to the express company. Crawford escaped from the detectives who were bringing him to this country.

No papers were filed in the suit, and both parties to it refused to say how much money was demanded. They, said the suit was a friendly one. The amount, however, is probably $6,000 and the expenses of the search for and arrest of Crawford, which were paid by the express company.

A COMPLICATED WILL CONTEST.

Frederic R. Coudert made a motion before the Surro gate yesterday for an injunction restraining the heirs of Thomas J. Monroe, the "Harlem hermit," from taking any action toward having his will, which was made in February, 1873, admitted to probate. After Monroe died two wills were discovered, one made in March, 1888, bequeathing the entire property to George G. will was offered for probate, but it was not admitted. An appeal was taken to the General Term of the Sapreme Court from the decision refusing to admit this will to probate. That appeal is now pending. The will which was made in 1873 provided that all the property should go to the testator's widow, and in the case of her death to Ellen R. Blaisdell, her niece. Monroe's wife died before he did and consequently, according to the provisions of the will of 1873, Mrs. Blaisdell is entitled to all the property should the decision declaring the will of 1888 invalid be upheld by the higher court. Mr. Coudert wanted an injunction pending the decision of the higher court. The surrogate said that he thought it was his duty to admit the will of 1873 to probate, provided it could be proved, but he said he would not put the estate in such a condition that it could be administered upon until the higher court had passed upon the validity of the will of 1888.

THE NEWSPAPER WAS UPHELD.

The sult of Franklin Lawrence against the Press Publishing Company ("The World") for $50,000 for an alleged libel was finished before Judge Ingraham and a jury in the Supreme Court yesterday, and resulted in a verdict in favor of the defendant. The jury were not out of their seats more than five minutes The alleged libel consisted in a statement to the effect that Lawrence was one of the conspirators connected that Lawrence was one of the conspirators connected with Ann O'Delia Diss Debar in her attempts to fleece Luther R. Marsh. John D. Townsend, who appeared for Lawrence, took occasion in his samming up before the Jury to say a great many acrimonious things about newspaper men generally. But his extravagant as-sertions evidently did not satisfy the jury that his statements were true.

A JUDGMENT FOR THE BRIDGE COMPANY. Judge Wheeler, in the United States Circuit Court, has given judgment, with the consent of both parties, for $18,000 55 and interest and costs for the plaintiff In the suit of the Keystone Bridge Company of Pennylvania ogainst William V. McCracken, Nell Me-Donald and George A. Evans. The respondents had filed a counter claim of about $00,000, but leave was given them to institute an independent suit for the amount. The judgment will not be entered until amount. The judgment will not be entered until December 2, to allow time for the filing of this suit. The defendants had the contract for building the St. Louis, Louisville and Texas Railroad and sub-let the building of two bridges to the compainant. The amount of the judgment was what had not been paid the bridge company by the contractors, who admitted this, but demanded about $00,000 from the company for extra expense, etc., due to the alleged failure of the Keystone Company to finish the bridges at the stipulated time. Harriman & Fessenden appeared for the bridge company.

QUALITY PAYS BOTH MAKER AND CONSUMER.

The most expensive economy is to buy cheap good which are cheap because poorly made. We have goods that are low-priced, because made plain, without expensive carving, but yet are well made; and we also, much sgainst our will, have to sell some finely made, expensively carved goods very cheap because we blundered in estimating what would be liked by most buyers, and it is better to make a loss in price than in room, waiting for those that fancy the style to appear.

Mr. Paddelford Is directed to pay to his former wife the sum of $6,000 a year for her own support and $2,000 a year for the support of their one child, Florence Byrne Paddelford, Edward M. Paddelford's grandfather died in 1870, and bequeathed to him a half-interest in a trust fund of $457,000, besides the sum of $232,000 absolutely. In October, 1880, he married the wife who has just secured a divorce from him. They lived in fine style and travelled extensively in Europe. She came back to this city before her husband did, and was staying at a hotel when her husband arrived here. She oberved then that a great change had come over him, and a short time afterward they separated. The present divorce suit was the final outcome. Mr. Paddelford is required to give security to insure his payment of the alimony.

TO SELL G. L. LORILLARD'S ESTATE. Judge O'Brien, in the Supreme Court, Chambers yesterday ordered a partition sale of the trust estate of George L. The estate to be sold includes No. 402 Broadway, No. 44 Division-st., No. 546 Grand-st. and No. 29 South-st.

MRS. FRANK W. TEFFT GETS A DIVORCE, Frank W. Tefft, a son of William E. Tefft, of Tefft; Weller & Co., brought a suit against his wife, Carrie B. Tefft, for an absolute divorce. The case was sent to a referee, and when the testimony was taken Mr. Tefft did not appear to press his suit. Mrs. Tefft, on the other hand, had set up a counter-claim in her answer to the complaint, in which she asked for affirmative relief in the shape of an absolute divorce from her husband. The referee reported in favor of Mrs. Test, and yesterday Judge Patterson, in the Suprema Court, signed a decree granting her an absolute divorce from her husband. The couple were married in June.
